

Winterton Town Council Website Disclaimer

Winterton Town Council aims to ensure that information on this website is correct, complete and accurate but gives no warranties, express or implied, to that effect.

Winterton Town Council does not accept liability for any claim, loss or damage, whether direct, indirect or consequential, for any errors or omissions in the information or from the use of the information on this site or accessed through this site.

Winterton Town Council assumes no responsibility whatsoever for the content of any web pages linked to by this site.

This website and its contents (excepting third-party information), are the property of Winterton Town Council.

Where third-party information is reproduced, it is based on information from those third-parties and that information is the property of those third-parties.

Any logos, trademarks, service marks and trade names contained within this site are used for information and reference purposes only.

Information on this website is subject to change without notice. All material on this website is copyright Winterton Town Council. No material on this site may be copied, republished or redistributed for commercial purposes or gain.

Any concern regarding site content, the use of a particular trademark or copyrighted material should be reported to the Webmaster or Officials. Please refer to the Contacts page for details.